Open the Wi-Fi menu on the device you need to connect to the internet. Look for your iOS device (ex: PCMag's iPhone), tap it, and enter the password that appears on your iPhone's Personal Hotspot screen.

Your secondary device should now be able to surf the web (and consume mobile data). To disconnect, toggle Personal Hotspot to off on your iOS device.

How you access Wi-Fi hotspots on Android phones will depend on which device you have and which version of Android you're running. If you navigate to Settings and search for "tether," it should appear, but here's an idea of what it looks like on some of the top Android phone brands. To deactivate hotspot mode, navigate back to these settings and toggle them off.

Samsung

Below you can see what it looks like on a Samsung Galaxy S8 running Android 9.0 Pie. You can either pull down and tap the Mobile Hotspot option in the menu to activate. Or navigate to Connections > Mobile Hotspot and Tethering > Mobile Hotspot and toggle it on. A pop-up window will appear, where you can find the Wi-Fi password for devices that want to connect.
